A workshop with
Dan Keusal, M.S., LMFT
Lake City Professional Center
Saturday, May 13, 2017 9:30 AM – 4:30 PM

*“An unexamined dream is like an unopened letter from God”
~The Talmud*

The dreams we have each night connect us with our deepest, wisest, best selves—with our unconscious, with our spirit, with “god,” or with the “gods and goddesses.” Dreams reveal what our waking ego is missing, offer clues about the places in life where we feel stuck, and show us the way forward. But the language of dreams is not the literal language of our everyday, waking life—it is the language of symbols, which can seem perplexing. This workshop will explore how to remember dreams, how to understand the important messages they bring, and how to turn those messages into life-given actions.
